- ▶ Aggregated alerts
- ▶ Easy product deployment and trials
- ▶ Part of the award-winning Sophos Central platform

Easy license-pooling with Enterprise Master Licenses

Create new sub-estates with a few clicks and share licenses between all of them. You can transfer licenses from a single Sophos Central Admin account to your Sophos Central Enterprise account and then use them as the master licenses for your entire organization. You can also consolidate the licenses of several sub-estates to use as master licenses or allocate certain licenses to be used only by individual sub-estates.

Seamless organization-wide management

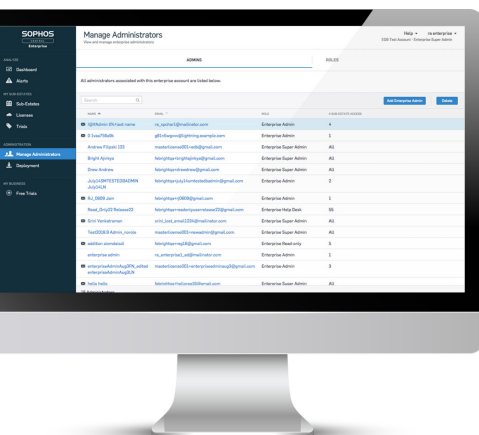

Enterprise administrators can easily manage their sub-estates from Sophos Central Enterprise by launching individual Sophos Central Admin sub-estates. View alerts across all your managed sub-estates, deploy new products and start trials in multiple sub-estates with a few clicks, view enterprise-wide audit logs, and remove sub-estates from your enterprise – all from a single console.

Restrict access with pre-defined roles

Sophos Central Enterprise includes several pre-defined administrator roles that divide access by responsibility level. Each Sophos Central Admin sub-estate can have its own administrators, or you can restrict the access of individual administrators to specific sub-estates based upon pre-defined admin roles.

Part of the award-winning Sophos Central platform

Sophos Central lets you administer protection for endpoints, mobile devices, encryption, web, email, servers, wireless, firewalls, and anti-phishing training all from a single cloud-based management console. Leveraging synchronized management technology, you'll benefit from security intelligence-sharing, policies that follow users, easy configuration, detailed reporting, and actionable alerts.
